Women the Best Conversers. Of one thing there can be very little doubt, and that, is the greater readiness in conversation of women than men. A woman can oreate conversation, which is a very useful thing and is frequently found a great social difficulty. If we given man a subject on which he knows anything at all, unless he be a fool or morbidly reticent, he can talk about it sissm is excited, throw off the slowness and hesitation which frequently cramp their power in society, just as they throw off the physical infirmity of stut-tering under the influence of some awakening theme or some strong sym-

But the power of conversation in some women, and not always those of remarkable ability, is the very art of making bricks without straw. They will talk to one by the hour about nothing—that is, on no particular subject and with no particular object—and talk coherently and not foolishly and withal very pleasantly all the time. It would, we are free to confess, be rather difficult for the listener to carry away with him any mental notes of what has been said. He may not be conscious of bav-ing gained any new ideas or of baving had his old ones much enlarged, but he will rise and go his way, as one does after a light and wholesome meal, sensibly cheered and refreshed, but retaining no troublesome memories of the ingredients which have composed it .-How He Defined Hope. "Hope," said she poetically, "is that she asked as she changed her head from one shoulder to the other.

"Hope," said he, "is the feeling that er in one generation are neglected in the next. Booksellers now rarely think it worth while to give the height of an Elzevir or to devote a note to an Aldus. The first editions of the classics, which in the days of our grandfathers were the collector's chief pride, are now fallen from their high estate. I have bought recently for 80 shillings a fine copy of the first edition of Aristophanes, Aldus, 1498, in a handsome binding, with gauffered edges, which in the first half of the century brought prices ranging from 130 francs to 425 francs. I could instance other similar cases of decline and fancy I can see symptoms of giving

These now bring large sums, and the tendency is and probably will be upward. In early poetry generally the prices, once thought very high, of the "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica" are now often surpassed. Booksellers of the better class tell me that there is a steady demand for good books.- over our heads and wires carry thoughts as well as words, and people live on their capsules of chemically prepared food, then names will probably be dispensed with and a symbol will be sufficient to designate one's person. The most advanced scientists have always been unable to remember the names of their acquaintances. They never forget faces, and so they deem names unnecessary. Symbols suggestive of the natural characteristics of the person would be much better. Darwin once forgot his own name. Professor S. of Harvard, after committing to memory the string of names of a Spaniard to whom he wished to present an old friend, forgot the name of his friend at the crucial moment.—New York Times.

SPANISH TREACHERY OR OFFIC-IAL CARELESSNESS.

It has not yet been determined to what cause the loss of the bartieship Maine and two hudred and sixty seamen is due. A Court of Inquiry has been ordered to make an investigation and report its findings and that court is now in session. Until the investigation is completed it will not be definitely ascertained whether the Maine tually in the country; when Vauxhail explosion was from internal or extergardens, with their "10,000 extra nal causes.

The general opinion is that the loss of the Maine was due to Spanish later, when the now densely populated treachery or official carelessness. WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

To day is the 166th anniversary of the birth of the Father of his Country Immertal Washington It is emi neutly fitting that in these troubles tim-s, when a call to arms is likely to be issued at any moment, the day should be appropriately celebrated The bonor of the great Republic, founded by Washington, may deman indemnity and reparation from Span so far as it lies in its power to mak the same, for the loss of the lives o nearly three hundred brave seamer and the destruction of an America: war ship The refusal of the haught Spanish Done to make reparation ma and should result in war. The recu: rence of the anniversary of the birth of the great patriot, statesmen and is critical time is, there fore, oppostane as it should arouse the spirit of national pride in every Amer ican citizen and result in liberating the Cuban patriots, from the galling yoke of Spain

Time was, within the memory o many who are yet in the prime of lif . when, in every village throughout th land, orators expanated upon the un seltishness and fortitude of Washins ton on the anniversary of his birti and it is not complimentary to the patriotism of those who enjoy the fruits of his victories, many of which were achieved under the most tryin, circumstances, that the custom, which should be as enduring as the nation which he founded, should become obsolete. The day should ever be observed, that the memory of the man "who was first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countr men" be always kept alive to inspir the people to emulate his patriotism POPULATION OF GERMAN CITIES AND THE MIPIRE.

Last summer the German Minister of the Interior ordered that a census of the Empire be taken. The result has just been announced and it shows that the entire population of the Empire is 52,250,894 or 29,017 less than was shown by the census of December 2, 1895, when the total population was 52,279,911.

Berlin bas 1,677,185 inbabitants; Hamburg has 625,000 and Munich, 407, 000 Four cities have over 300,000-Leipsic, 399,969, Breslau, 373,000; Dres den, 336,000, and Cologna, 321,000 Three cities have over 300,000 inhabitants-Finnkfort-on the-Main, Madge burg and Hanover The five cities having 150,000 to 200,000 inhabitants are Dusseldorf, Konigsberg, Nuremberg Chemnitz and Statigart. Thir teen cities have from 100,000 to 150,000 Altona, Bremen, Stettin, Elberfeld, Straeburg (135,000), Charlottenburg Barmen, Dantsic, Halle, Brunswick, Dortmund, Aix-la-Chapelle and Cre feld. Twenty-seven towns have from 50,000 to 100,000, and forty-seven have from 30,000 to 50,000 This makes a total of 102 cities having populations over 30,000

NEVADA IS a great State from any standpoint, and, with an irrigation system like that of Colorado and more attention paid to the gold resources of the State there is nothing to prevent it becoming a large and prosperous community. There is great interest taken in irrigation in Nevada, and the probability is that during the cominyear some very important enterprise of that character will be inaugurated -Denver Republican.

Sir Henry Doulton.

Sir Henry Doulton, who was born in Vauxball Walk in 1820, practically spent his life in Lambeth, where his father established his pottery in the year of Waterloo, and he took an active part in the business from the old days of "chimney pots, drain pipes, ink and blacking bottles" until the firm became world famous for its art productions, in which, above all else, may be mentioned its admirable ware based upon the old Gris de Flandres and other types of old Flemish and German stone ware, whose soft, tender colorings are so restful and refined. It was always a pleasure to Sir Henry to chat with any one who was interested in old London -the London when Vauxhall was virlights," were the resort of the Joe Sedleys and the bucks of a generation considered remote enough from London to be the scene of a duel between the Duke of Wellington and the Earl of Winchelsea in 1829.

Sir Henry Doulton first made a name accumulating honors and medals and missed and mourned in the great facto versally liked.

ALMOST CAME TO BLOWS.

An Incident Hinstrative of Chicago Lan guage and Theatrical Tempers.

The other morning there dropped into the gallery of a photographer who has long made a specialty of taking the pictures of theatrical celebrities a big strapping western man who came to see his friend, the photographer. The young woman behind the counter, who knew, the caller, had just been reading in a newspaper a savage "roast" of his native city of Chicago. She handed the paper to the westerner to read, expecting to get some amusement out of his comments. The Chicagoan was in the midst of his reading, bristling with wrath, when the husband of a well known actross entered the room. A framed portrait of the actress, taken several years ago, stood on an easel in a corner. The husband walked up to the picture, and after contemplating it for a few minutes said:

"My wife is certainly a remarkable woman. That picture was taken all of five years ago, yet she is younger looking and handsomer today than it is." Just then the westerner finished the Chicago story. "Well, I don't think," he exclaimed loudly and emphatically, throwing the paper down upon the counter.

"What right have you, sir, to think anything about it?" demanded the actress' husband angrily.

"Who gave you control over my thinker?" retorted the astonished westerner.

"Think what you please to yourself, but you shan't insult my wife, sir," shouted the husband.

"Your wife? Where is she? Are you a lunatic?" "No, sir, but you are a big bully," cried the husband, dancing with wrath.

The little woman behind the counter who had been convulsed with laughter, tried to explain the mistake, but the indignant husband refused to listen. Nothing but an apology would satisfy him, and he made a dramatic exit from the gallery, saying that the westerner would "hear from him again." He went home and wrote a letter to the photographer saying that he had been insulted and threatening to withdraw his wife's custom if the apology was not forthcoming. The photographer was obliged to write several letters before he could calm the troubled waters. Meantime the Chicagoan went home, firm in the conviction that he had narrowly escaped hitting a crazy man .-New York Sun.

Stories of Henry George. The activity and power of intellect of the late Henry George did not prevent absentmindedness. A writer in The Review of Reviews says that this quality was "the jest of his circle." Names escaped him. I heard him say to Mr. Dayton, the candidate on his ticket for comptroller and one of the hest known men in New York: "You won't mind it, I hope, if I forget your name. I am so conscious of the danger of getting names wrong that when the need of remembering comes it rattles me, and away the name goes." He came late to a dinner at the Lotus club, where he was to discuss with some friends the question of his being a candidate in apprehended contingencies. It was raining, and he took from his pocket the slippers with which Mrs. George had insisted on providing him in case he should get his feet wet, and as he put them on he apologized with honest
